

WELCOME

TO THE GRACOROBERTS FAMILY OF BRANDS

We're delighted to welcome Sky Mart as the newest member of the GracoRoberts Family of Brands following our recent acquisition. With more than 40 years of excellence, Sky Mart brings a strong legacy of customer service, deep technical expertise, and a wide aviation product offering that has earned the trust of customers across both Latin America and North America. Their reputation for stocking the right products, getting it right the first time, and delivering with care aligns perfectly with the values we hold across our global organization.

A MILESTONE IN OUR GLOBAL GROWTH – AND A WARM WELCOME TO OUR NEWEST COLLEAGUES AT SKY MART!

What makes this moment especially exciting is the unique strength Sky Mart adds to our operational network. Their experienced team – supported by 24/7 AOG service and an established Miami presence – enhances our ability to serve customers faster, more efficiently, and across more time zones than ever before. This marks a meaningful step toward an even more connected and responsive global service model.

With the addition of Sky Mart's fulfillment centers in Miami, San Antonio, and Indianapolis, GracoRoberts now benefits from an additional 42,000 sq. ft. of stocking capacity, spanning oils, greases, specialty fluids, adhesives, coatings, composites, and more.

This expansion reinforces our commitment to immediate product availability, stronger stocking positions, and a more resilient global supply chain. Sky Mart customers will also gain access to GracoRoberts' extensive technical expertise and advanced eCommerce platforms.

As we begin integrating Sky Mart into our broader organization, you'll see increased collaboration across teams and regions. This includes updated branding, sales tools, employment policies, onboarding, and training to streamline processes and align on how we serve customers. Together, we will further strengthen the customer and employee experience across all brands.

Sky Mart's leadership has expressed deep appreciation for this partnership – one that honors the four-decade legacy built by founders, Gregorio and Lucy Robbin. Their long-standing values of service, determination, and customer care reflect our own. This strong alignment of mission and culture is a key reason why this acquisition is such a meaningful milestone for all of us.

We look forward to the shared growth, new connections, and opportunities this partnership will bring.
